New OPS Head Says Controls Are Needed

Chicago, March 5 (AP)—Price Chief Ellis Arnall said today the country must "maintain and strengthen" its price-wage control structure until rising production meets both military and civilian demands.

In his first address as head of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), the former Georgia governor told the National Wholesale Food Distributors that the inflationary hazard still exists.

"My own deep conviction is that until the danger of inflation is past—until production meets both military and civilian needs—we must maintain and strengthen our stabilizing controls."

Central Hudson, Other Firms Hit Niagara Program

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The recommendation of the Buffalo district office of the corps of engineers for federal redevelopment of Niagara river power has been blasted by five major New York state electric companies, including the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation which serves power to Kingston and other communities in the Hudson river valley.

Call for Public Hearing

The five power companies yesterday called for a public hearing on the district engineers' plan featuring the building of a new power station in the Niagara gorge that would produce 7,568,000 kilowatt hours of power annually.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' report, made known Jan. 15th, said the station would be fed by an open canal running from a point above Niagara Falls and extending about five miles in back of this resort mecca.

The power companies want the project developed by private interests. They filed a report yesterday in Washington attacking the engineers' recommendation.

The power companies are the Niagara Mohawk Power Co.; the New York State Electric & Gas Corp.; the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc.; and the Rochester Gas & Electric Corp.

Basis for Opposition

Last November, the companies said they based their opposition to the open waterway recommendation on these basic arguments:

- 1—An open-cut canal would be inefficient and not economical.
- 2—Such a canal would impair the national security as well as the scenic beauty of the Niagara area.
- 3—The canal would cause economic loss or damage to the area.
- 4—It would impair or destroy a plan for relocation of railroads in Niagara Falls as ordered by the State Public Service Commission.

Admit Having Prisoners

Munsan, Korea, March 5 (AP)—The Communists admitted today they hold unreported prisoners and tried to use them as a club in Korean truce negotiations. The Reds said they would supply the names of these prisoners "in due time"—but only after the allies furnished data the Communists have been demanding. Rear Adm. R. E. Libby reported sharply that the UN command would furnish additional prisoner data on an exchange basis or not at all.

Reports on Airfields

London, March 5 (AP)—Britain has spent $23,380,000 developing airfields in England for the use of the U. S. Air Force since 1948, George Ward, air undersecretary, told the House of Commons today. He said development costs are shared with the United States, which pays all costs of maintaining the fields.

Says U. S. Too Slow

London, March 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill hinted today at disappointment in slow American aid and said Britain will need about four years instead of three to carry out her $13,160,000,000 rearmament program.

Specialist Dies

Eastbourne, Eng., March 5 (AP)—Sir Charles Scott Sherrington, who shared the Nobel prize for medicine in 1932 and was one of the world's leading authorities on the brain and nervous system, died last night. He was 94.

Held on Weapons Charge

Russell Merrihew, 17, Krumville, was arrested Tuesday by Ellenville police on a charge of unlawful possession of a dangerous weapon. He was taken before Justice Benjamin Linstein and held for a hearing later.

Called in Probe

Mrs. Olga Konow of New York arrives to testify in Senate probe of surplus oil tanker deals held in Washington. Mrs. Konow, vice-president of the American Viking Corp., has been named by several witnesses as the person who showed a group of public figures the way to a $450,000 profit on $1,000 invested in a firm which bought and sold three of the tankers, obtained from the old U. S. Maritime Commission. (AP Wirephoto).

Got $100,000 She Tells Senators In Tanker Deal

'Oilboat Olga' Says Wealthy Chinese Gave Money and Casey Was In

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Olga Konow, who quipped that she has been nicknamed "Oilboat Olga," testified today she got fees of "more than $100,000" for helping to engineer a deal in war surplus oil tankers that paid off $450,000 on a $1,000 investment.

A well-groomed blonde who scarcely looks like the shipping operator she is, Mrs. Konow said the deal was financed by wealthy Chinese.

In the wind up, the Chinese indirectly got control of three tankers the U. S. government had refused to sell to them. The $450,000 went to Joseph E. Casey, former Congress member, and a group of associates who had the ships from the government—putting up only $1,000 of their own money—and turned them over to the Chinese-financed United Tanker Corp.

Mrs. Konow, a handsome figure in a dark blue and black skirt, testified before the Senate investigations subcommittee which is looking into this and other Casey-engineered ship deals.

The senators are pursuing the questions of whether the deals involve any violations of law, influence peddling or tax evasion.

Otte Big Profits

Casey has testified that Mrs. Konow provided a tip that led to this particular three-ship deal, and that it was worked out in the law office of a partner of Newbold Morris, President Truman's government corruption sleuth.

The subcommittee placed at $1,267,200 the fees and profits collected by or still due to Casey and two companions for lining up a series of ship deals.

The group named the two others as Robert W. Dudley, a Washington lawyer, and Joseph W. Rosenbaum, whose share was received in the name of his Washington law firm. Dudley and Rosenbaum are awaiting trial on perjury charges growing out of a grand jury investigation of alleged influence peddling in government loans.

Confirms Figures

Dudley, who testified at a hearing yesterday, confirmed the figures.

Houston H. Wasson, Morris's New York law partner, is slated to follow Mrs. Konow to the witness stand.

Chairman Hoey (D-N. C.) said Wasson's testimony on negotiations with Casey's group in behalf of some Chinese-financed ship buyers may determine whether Morris also will be called.

Drug Death Was Known Two Weeks

Agents Got Tip on Girl Dying in Harlem but Had No Identity for Victim

Linked Case

Case Solved When Body Was Found on Land in Greenwich, Conn.

New York, March 5 (AP)—Narcotics agents disclosed today they knew of the Harlem apartment death of Joanne Barbara Scott, 16, two weeks before her body was found Friday in a trunk on a Connecticut estate.

They did not know her identity before the body was found.

But, Samuel Levine, acting supervisor of the Federal Narcotics Bureau office here, told reporters:

"Two of our agents got information from a reliable source that a girl had died in an apartment in connection with the use of narcotics and that the body had been removed and dumped elsewhere."

"We had reason to believe the body had been hidden. We didn't know if it had been thrown into the East river or hidden somewhere else in the city or even taken out of town."

He notified police and a search was begun.

Found by Caretaker

The body was found by chance by a caretaker on the Greenwich, Conn., estate and police immediately linked the case with the information on the Harlem death.

The World-Telegram and Sun quoted a federal agent as saying an addict-informer told of seeing the girl lying nude and apparently dead on the floor of the apartment on Feb. 13.

"We watched every death report in the metropolitan area in hopes of finding out what happened to the girl. Then came the flash last Friday from Greenwich."

Mrs. Scott, a white woman and estranged wife of a Milwaukee, Wis., Negro, was the mother of a 16-month-old daughter, Barry Robinson, 29, Negro former seaman, is being held without bail on a charge of homicide. He is accused of selling heroin to Mrs. Scott which "she injected into her veins, causing her death."

Addict Informer Talked

The newspaper said an addict-informer saw the girl's nude body on the floor of a Harlem tenement Feb. 13, shortly after her death, and told the narcotics bureau two days later.

The World-Telegram and Sun said the informant told the agents Robinson called him to the flat and asked him what to do with the girl.

At midnight, the informant said, he saw Bernie and two other men lift a heavy trunk into a small truck.

"Bernie," the newspaper quoted him as having said, "supervised the operation, then got into his car and followed the truck up Eighth avenue. I tried to get a cab and follow them but none was in sight. Bernie later told people in the neighborhood that the girl was in a hospital and was getting along fine."

Down Five Red Planes

Seoul, Korea, March 5 (AP)—American warplanes surprised a flight of Communist MIG-15 jets today and shot down at least five near the Yalu river. Another MIG was listed as probably destroyed. The wild 30-minute morning battle was touched off when 28 F-86 Sabre jets pounced on a flight of 70 MIGs as the Reds came out of their Manchurian sanctuary.

Scouts Study Council Procedure

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Truman administration has decided against any move to carry the Korean War to China even if the truce talks collapse.

Officials said that is the present basic policy, but how it is applied if and when a collapse occurs will undoubtedly depend on what the Communists do and what the American people think about it.

In the highest levels of the Defense and State Departments it is recognized, officials privately concede, that popular indignation could force the United States in some circumstances to take action which would either contradict or diverge from its present policy.

U. S. to Press for Return Of Soldier From Red Area

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The State Department plans to press for return of an AWOL American soldier who disappeared behind the iron curtain a year ago and turned up recently in a Red propaganda campaign.

The department said yesterday Cpl. Alexander S. Czarniecki of Ozone Park, Long Island, N. Y., fled into Communist Czechoslovakia Dec. 15, 1950, from his post with the Sixth U. S. Cavalry Division in western Germany.

He was jailed and held incommunicado a year although he apparently managed to smuggle a note to the American embassy in Prague. No reply was received to five inquiries made thereafter by American diplomats to the Czech government.

Training Is Dead Issue for Present

Military Measure Lost 236-162 in House; Legion Warns

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Bitterly-debated Universal Military Training (UMT) appeared today to be a dead issue, for the next few months at least.

The House yesterday shelved an administration bill to start UMT. It voted 236-162 to send the measure back to committee.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the armed services committee, then killed off any immediate chance for reconsideration. He told newsmen his committee would not bring up any more UMT legislation during this session.

Sen. MacFarland of Arizona, Democratic leader in the Senate, said that in view of the House action the Senate probably would not consider UMT before the end of the 82nd Congress.

But, proponents insisted that UMT was not permanently dead. "We'll start all over again in the 83rd Congress, after the election," Vinson said.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, another strong supporter, said in a statement "it will be little short of a national tragedy if the House action 'means the death of UMT legislation.'"

Says Soviets Happy

Donald R. Wilson, national commander of the American Legion, commented: "I can imagine a large number of people are happy tonight and most of them are within the confines of the Soviet Union."

Wilson interpolated this observation in a speech he read at the Legion's national rehabilitation conference. He said the fight for UMT is "by no means over."

House members did not actually vote on the merits of the bill to establish compulsory six months' training for 18-year-olds, plus 7½ years in the reserves.

Their vote merely postponed action by sending the measure back to committee.

The climactic roll call cut across party lines. The motion to recommend the bill was supported by 155 Republicans, 81 Democrats; opposed by 131 Democrats, 30 Republicans and one Independent.

Won't Carry War to China If Truce Talks Collapse

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Truman administration has decided against any move to carry the Korean War to China even if the truce talks collapse.

Officials said that is the present basic policy, but how it is applied if and when a collapse occurs will undoubtedly depend on what the Communists do and what the American people think about it.

In the highest levels of the Defense and State Departments it is recognized, officials privately concede, that popular indignation could force the United States in some circumstances to take action which would either contradict or diverge from its present policy.

A clear indication of the administration's attitude came last night in a speech sent by Assistant Secretary of State John M. Allison to the Philadelphia Bulletin Forum at Philadelphia. It was delivered by his assistant, U. Alexis Johnson, who returned 10 days ago from talks with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and other top UN military men in Korea.

"It is our policy," Allison said, "to confine the conflict to Korea. We do not propose to widen the scope of the war. That has been our policy from the start. That remains our policy. It is up to the Communists. If they want to widen the conflict and engulf the world in a terrible world war, then they must be the ones to do it."

Dewey Will Sign Research Measure

Bill on Using Dogs Goes Through Senate; Opposition Strong

Albany, March 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey today was ready to sign the controversial dog-for-research bill and a Long Island humane group promised to fight its legality in court.

The Hatch-Metcalf measure, assailed by anti-vivisectionists, was given final legislative clearance yesterday by the Senate, 34-18, after two hours of angry debate. It passed the Assembly last Wednesday.

The bill would allow the state and New York city health commissioners to requisition doomed dogs and cats from municipal or contract pounds, and turn them over to state-approved research laboratories for scientific research.

It also would authorize the state and New York city to acquire licensed, unwanted dogs from pounds with the written permission of their owners.

Will Go to Courts

In Freeport, L. I., last night, James H. Cruickshank, president of the Long Island Dog Protective Association, said his group would challenge the measure's legality in the courts.

He said his association would carry its battle to the U. S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

Senate approval for the measure came after the House rejected by voice vote a proposed amendment offered by Republican Senator MacNeil Mitchell of Manhattan. He urged that the state Humane Society be given some official say in determining state approval of laboratories for allocation of animals for research.

The Mitchell amendment also would have increased from three to eight the extra days a doomed dog must be retained at a pound for possible reclaiming by an owner.

Public Service Is Authority for Franchise, He Says

Bids for quicker results in efforts to restore suspended bus runs in the city drew from Alderman Robert C. Cullum, 12th ward, the contention at last night's Common Council meeting that decisions rest solely with the New York State Public Service Commission.

James E. Martin, 12th ward supervisor, reread his statement of last December, charging the councilmen with lack of effective action, and Isabelle H. McHugh, of 98 DeWitt street asked them to see if they could not "work out some kind of a plan," to restore service on the suspended bus runs.

The PSC granted the Kingston City Transportation Corp., a trial suspension of the Wilbur and Fairview-Lucas runs following public hearing to determine if this would offset financial losses of the corporation. This was originally for two months and was extended to April 29 recently.

Accountant Checked

Alderman Cullum said the council had made every possible effort to solve the problem and to obtain another public hearing which is to be held soon.

"The mayor took it upon himself to send a private accountant" to the bus company's office to inspect its books, Cullum said, and it was found that the company was losing a large sum of money.

Local action, including that of the councilmen, he said, tried to keep the Wilbur and Fairview-Lucas bus runs in service, but it was voided by the PSC ruling.

Aldermen Can't Cancel

The council has "no power to cancel" the bus company's franchise, Cullum said. "The mayor had suggested possible solution of the problem through an increase in bus fare, the alderman said, but it was reported then that past experiences showed a trend toward "a decrease in the use of buses" when fares were boosted.

Martin argued "There would seem to be only two logical solutions to this problem. Either insist that adequate service be maintained by the present bus company, and permit them to petition for a reasonable fare increase, or immediately cancel their franchise."

It would seem "only equitable for the city," in granting a new franchise, he said, "to appraise the investment of the bus operator, set a reasonable cost of operation, allow a percentage return on the investment, and then the city should share in profits above that sum through a special city franchise tax."

"After all," he said, "the State of New York recognizes, in the new weight-distance tax, that vehicles of the bus type are the greatest offenders in the deterioration of publicly built roads. Isn't it about time the taxpayer has some consideration of his special interests?"

Stand Convicted, He Says

The supervisor held that his letter was more pertinent today than when it was originally written, and charged, "I believe that the councilmen stand convicted of unpardonable neglect of duty, if, even belatedly now, they refuse to take a strong and definite stand on this matter."

Alderman Cullum asked "What public official did you have in (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

Mayor Suggests Plan for Broadway Flow of Traffic

Common Council action last night favored modernizing the city court and establishing a new Traffic Violations Bureau to facilitate the handling of traffic charges.

Referred to committee were proposed traffic changes along Broadway, several claims against the city and a bid by Fred Davi, of Glasco for use of the municipal stadium for promotion of "local talent" baseball.

A sale of $251,000 in city bonds on March 19 was authorized and a deed for a 50-foot wide perimeter road in conjunction with the local housing project forwarded by the corporation counsel was referred to the laws and rules committee and local planning commission.

Changes that would modernize the city court and its powers and duties were explained to the aldermen by City Judge Raymond J. Mino, who appeared at the session in his official capacity and as chairman of a committee of the Ulster County Bar Association, which has recommended the changes.

Same Since 1896

Powers and duties of the court were established as far back as 1896, and have not been substantially changed since then, the judge said. Many procedures are now obsolete and a judicial council of the state has recommended that every city over 20,000 population, modernize as they are empowered to do under the state's model city court act.

The court's jurisdiction would be extended to include civil cases up to $1,000 instead of the present $500. Citizens of the city would be permitted to institute a lawsuit against a person or persons residing in the city outside of the county, legal practice will be similar to that in county and supreme courts, a small claims court will be established and criminal court jurisdiction will be increased to include every misdemeanor occurring within the city.

But the "second life" of 20-year-old Franklin James Morrison was short. It lasted but 40 minutes, and then he died.

Morrison, of Bellerose, N. Y., was waiting in line with other inductees to be weighed when he suddenly pitched forward to the floor. He turned blue and seemed to stop breathing.

For three-and-a-half hours the center's doctors worked over him, applying artificial respiration and oxygen. Finally the youth's breathing was restored and he was placed in an iron lung sent from a hospital.

But he died 40 minutes later, while in the iron lung at Beckman-Downtown Hospital.

Morrison, a junior at New York University, had suffered previously from rheumatic fever. However, he was believed to have recovered from this illness.

An autopsy will be performed today.

Back From Arctic

RAYMOND H. YEAGER

Raymond H. Yeager, ET 3, of the U. S. Navy aboard the Ice-breaker USS Atka, (AGB-3) has returned from an extended Arctic mission above the Arctic Circle, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Yeager, 156 Wrentham street.

While home on liberty, he is proudly sporting his bushy beard, which is well in order for a second timer "Polar Bear," having been duly initiated from the ranks of a "Blue Nose," by proclamation, deed and document, this being his second time across the cold barrier into the barren wastes of the cold north.

Yeager was graduated from Kingston High School, Class of 1947.

Winter Is Promoted

Eugene Winter, serving with the 47th Infantry Division at Camp Rucker, Ala., was recently promoted to corporal. Cpl. Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Winter, 99 Foxhall avenue, is assigned to the Medical Company of the 164th Infantry Regiment.

Pfc. Albert P. Canal, of the U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mrs. Julia Canal of Grand street, Highland, recently spent a 10-day furlough at home after completing his basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island. He won the marine expert silver cross medal when he fired 225 out of a possible 250 with the Garand rifle. He is now stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., where he is attending an engineering school. He received his promotion to private first class at his new station.

Settlement Is Reached

At the afternoon session of Supreme Court Tuesday after the case had been partially tried, a settlement was reached in the negligence action brought by Mrs. Jennie Halpern and her husband, of Kerhonkson, against Milton Rosenblatt of New York City. Mrs. Halpern was injured August 21, 1950, and her car was badly damaged when it was struck by the Rosenblatt car shortly after she had emerged from her driveway on the Minnewaska Trail. Philip Korn appeared for plaintiff and Judge Andrew J. Cook for the defendant.

His Plane Minus Tail, Navy Flier Lands Craft

With Task Force 77 off Korea, March 5 (AP)—A Navy flier landed safely on the Carrier Antietam Tuesday after Communist ground fire shot off half his plane's tail. Lt. Raymond J. Laturno, Jr., 926 Annitte Drive, Long Island, N. Y., was pulling out of a bombing dive on Red rail lines when an explosion shook his plane so hard that his feet were jarred from the rudder.

He thought everything was all right until another pilot, Lt. John M. Bartelucci, 56 Magnolia avenue, Maplewood, N. J., pointed out the shattered tail assembly.

The two climbed to 10,000 feet and simulated a few carrier landings. They decided Laturno could make it back, and returned to the Antietam.

When Laturno climbed out of the plane he discovered that its tail was riddled with flak holes.

Free in $50,000 Until May Trial In Husband's Death

El Paso, Tex., March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons is free on $50,000 bond until her trial May 12 for murder.

The 21-year-old Tulsa, Okla., girl is charged in the fatal shooting here Feb. 16 of her husband, Lt. Richard O. Parsons, 24.

Judge Roy Jacks of 34th District Court set the bond yesterday after a 55-minute hearing in which defense attorneys sought a writ and fixing of bond.

Bond immediately was furnished by her well-to-do parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Flegler of Tulsa. They, with Mrs. Parsons' brother, John Flegler, brought Mrs. Parsons here from Dallas where she has been in a private sanitarium. A sanity hearing is to be given before the trial.

Defense Attorney O. B. Fisher of Paris, Tex., said the blonde socialite will return there for treatment.

During her 2½ hours spent in District Court both before and during the hearing, Mrs. Parsons remained calm. She sat at the counsel table.

"She seemed very unconcerned," remarked Sheriff W. O. Hicks. After her arrival she was shown a copy of the indictment and warrant which resulted from grand jury action Friday. The charge was murder with malice. She told police they had quarrelled over money which her parents gave them.

Before going to the courtroom, she was taken to the county jail where she was booked.

Willing to Talk

Paris, March 5 (AP)—A diplomatic source said today the Czechoslovak government has expressed a willingness to conduct official talks about the case of William N. Oatis, imprisoned American correspondent. This source said the willingness to talk represents a step forward, since at one time the Czechs refused to listen to any mention of the subject.

New Shocks Recorded

Trieste, Free Territory, March 5 (AP)—New earth shocks—believed to be in Japan—were recorded by the seismographs of Trieste's observatory early today (11:01 p. m. E.S.T., Tuesday).

Mayor of Tuckahoe Is Indicted for Dice Conspiracy

White Plains, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The mayor of Tuckahoe, N. Y., who fought juvenile delinquency by founding the forerunner of the Police Athletic League (PAL) movement, was found guilty today of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

The mayor, Milton A. Gibbons, 52, and Mrs. Mary Beary Hayes, 41, daughter of a one-time Yorkers, N. Y., police captain, were convicted by a Westchester County Court jury which deliberated five hours. The case went to the jury last night.

Sentencing was postponed and the two were continued in bail. Each faces a possible penalty of one year in jail and a $500 fine.

Gibbons, a retired Tuckahoe police sergeant, in 1930 organized the forerunner of the nation-wide string of PAL organizations.

He and Mrs. Hayes were charged with planning to operate a dice game in a vacant house in Tuckahoe. During the trial, which started Feb. 5, a mahogany and green felt table was displayed in the courtroom as evidence.

Joseph E. Venuti, 36, Eastchester town Democratic politician, was a co-defendant but obtained a severance because of illness. He will be tried later.

Gibbons, a Democrat, said at the time of his indictment last July that the charges were a Republican "political conspiracy." He said yesterday that even if convicted he would continue to serve as mayor.

Dewey Proposes Transit Authority Take Railroad

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey proposed today that the Long Island Transit Authority be given power to acquire the commuter railroad temporarily in a move to get the line out of bankruptcy and sell it to private interests.

Last year's law creating the authority was designed to rehabilitate the railroad by inducing private capital to acquire the line. The law provided that the authority stand by to take over if the plan failed.

Dewey asked the Legislature in a special message today to pass a bill to allow the transit authority to acquire the railroad under section 77 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

Woman Asks Committee To Study Mercy Deaths

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Legislature has been asked to create a joint committee to study the feasibility of legalizing mercy deaths.

Creation of the committee was urged yesterday in a petition, signed by 2,000 persons.

It was presented to Senate Republican leader Arthur H. Wicks by Mrs. Robertson Jones, acting president of the Euthanasia Society of America.

The society proposed that "Euthanasia be authorized only by a court of record of the state, acting upon the testimony of three reputable physicians that the sufferer is beyond the help of the medical profession."

The proposal was not expected to get anywhere.

Tailors Say American Men Fattest, Laziest

New York, March 5 (AP)—Sir, are you growing fatter and lazier? The New York Custom Tailors Designers Club says American men are the fattest and laziest in U. S. history. The reasons: Too much sleep and food, not enough exercise.

But, the club said yesterday, men now are better dressed than ever before even though the model size has jumped from 32 to 40.

The club picked these as the 10 best dressed men in the country:

WESTERN EUROPE'S DEFENSE

The future of Western Europe's defense program appears brighter. Most of the credit must go to the recently ended meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council at Lisbon.

Some of the council's accomplishments, however, look better on paper than they are in reality. For instance, the plan for about 50 combat-ready divisions, by the end of this year. Some military authorities believe a figure of about half that would be more realistic.

And while council members themselves have come to productive agreement on the most important points, final approval still must come from their respective countries. And that can cause time-consuming bickering, if not downright balking.

Who pays for what is still a major obstacle in the giant arms program? Some of the European countries are hard up, to put it mildly. France is a good example. The United States, already shouldering a great financial burden in Europe, has agreed to give France another $400,000,000 for rearmament.

Perhaps the most striking aspect of the current European defense picture is the sudden rise of Germany, mortal enemy of most NATO countries only seven years ago, as an important column in the defense structure.

West Germany is to pay $2,670,000,000 a year toward the Western Europe defense program, subject to possible adjustments by the Bonn government.

The way has also been opened for Germany once again to begin stoking up her great war industries. Just what arms she will be allowed to produce hasn't been completely ironed out.

And Theodor Blank, military adviser to West Germany's Adenauer, has told the Germans they are to have a draft to raise 300,000 to 400,000 troops for the European army.

The agreements which elevate Germany to a place of equal footing in the European army were not arrived at without a lot of compromises with her ancient enemy, France.

The United States and Britain had to give France assurances that Germany will not be allowed to dominate the European army, or to pull her forces out of it when she pleases. France certainly cannot be blamed for feeling as she does.

In fact, political news from West Germany seems to bear out the fear of France and others that tolerance for the principles of Nazism is not dead.

U. S. High Commissioner McCloy, in a quarterly report to the State Department from Bonn, warns of coming "disaster" unless a halt is put to rising German nationalism and the actions of Nazi-like parties.

Certainly not all Germany's sins are atoned for by her entry into the European army.

FENDERS OF THE FUTURE

Every driver who has ever regarded a dented fender with dismay may be pleased with the word that a dent-proof plastic auto body is now being manufactured. The makers say that the body of the car springs back into place even after serious bumps. No substance is indestructible, but it is the claim of the manufacturers that the plastic auto-bodies can easily be repaired even when the force of a collision causes the plastic to crack.

It may be a long time before plastic comes into general use for the manufacture of auto bodies. But if the time ever comes when the danger of denting a fender no longer exists, a man will be able to drive a car with more confidence than he has at present. He can drive it with real pleasure if some method of running the car without gasoline, stopping it automatically at red lights and parking it without inconvenience and delay can be discovered.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

One of the assumptions to have gained currency during the past 20 years is that we need to invest huge sums of capital in many foreign countries with the object not only of keeping our own industries in flourishing condition but also to gain us friends and allies.

Lend-Lease, the Good Neighbor policy, the Marshall Plan, ECA, Point Four and some of the activities of the Ford Foundation are among the efforts to move American capital, manufactured goods and raw materials to all parts of the world. As temporary expedients, some of the methods employed by these agencies have produced both favorable and unfavorable results. From the standpoint of long term analysis, certain unfavorable factors already appear:

1. If foreign trade is essential, government "dumping," paid for out of taxes, cannot be a substitute for ordinary business processes. On this subject, the National Foreign Trade Council has this to say:

"It cannot be expected that economic environments conducive to the investment of American private capital will be established in these foreign lands so long as the governments concerned have reason to believe—as they do have reason to believe—that they will continue to be the beneficiaries of the hand-outs our own government has given them for so long. The keynote to the establishment of the climates needed for the achievement of the ends in view is the recognition by the foreign governments concerned that the United States will not yield to pressures for the provision of indiscriminate largesse."

The acceptance of the handout can become a habit. It is usually accompanied by ingratitude and profligacy.

2. The United States has expended its irreplaceable raw materials lavishly and is already forced to import such commodities as copper, bauxite (aluminum), and iron ore in larger quantities than is altogether safe. For instance, in Chile, at the present time, the copper supply of the United States is being impelled by socialistic trends leading to nationalization. Our principal source of aluminum is the West Indies.

3. There is no evidence that friendship can be purchased by trade or gifts and that nationalistic tendencies, strong in historic manifestations, can be snuffed out by public relations or soft speeches. As a witness our current difficulties with Great Britain and France, to say nothing of the $11,000,000,000 the United States gave to Soviet Russia to rescue that country from Germany, which we are now financing.

Nationalism, in its most intense expression, is the truest reaction of public opinion in most countries since the war. While the United States has gone internationalist, the rest of the world is going nationalist.

The evidence rather points to the fact that the United States is now engaged upon a policy which requires special friendly attention to Japan and Germany, who were our enemies in the last war, and to Spain, whom we defamed and opposed. While national interests may be fixed, international relations are always fluid.

It is not often recognized that the mechanism of foreign trade is not the movement of goods and services, but of money from one country to another. When the principal currencies of the world were good, the exchange rate was the determining factor in foreign trade, because it decided price and availability in one country of goods and services originating in another.

There are no good currencies in the world today. The best of a bad lot is the American dollar. All other currencies are therefore pegged, in one way or another, to that American dollar, and from its sway all other currencies are trying to liberate themselves.

When the English Pound Sterling controlled, it was a free currency; that is, its value was determined by the marketplace and not by the fiat of a government. When the British pound became a managed currency of no really fixed value and protected from the vagaries of the marketplace, it gave way to the American dollar, which is also a managed currency of uncertain value.

The debasement of money by government is undoubtedly the principal impediment to the cultivation of foreign trade. When to unorthodox monetary practices are added "dumping" and "barter," foreign trade becomes anarchic. And when to that is added "nationalization," then wisdom would counsel that we keep our liquid capital at home. (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DENTAL SUGGESTIONS

"Children sitting or standing on the front seat of automobiles are in the most dangerous position in the car and frequently their teeth are fractured by hitting the dashboard at sudden stops."

I am quoting Dr. Henry Marsh Wilbur, professor of children's dentistry, University of Louisville School of Dentistry, in The Journal of the American Dental Association. It is also stated that front-seat passengers can suffer injuries, especially to the mouth and teeth, three times as often as drivers.

Dr. Wilbur cited recommendations of experts that crash pads be installed on dashboards to protect children and other front-seat passengers from violent impact with knobs and instruments that jut out from the dashboard. Also, it is important that parents be informed of the necessity for professional attention as soon as an accident involving the teeth occurs. "Splints may be applied to a block of teeth which have been fractured or a single tooth which has been loosened, and other treatment as the case demands."

It is surprising how much a dentist can do in cases of broken or loosened teeth if the patient visits him immediately after the accident.

Another suggestion to help educate parents in the proper attitude toward child and dentist is that they stay out of the dentist's operating room while children are receiving dental treatment. This was suggested in The Journal of the American Dental Association by Dr. Frank L. Lamons, chairman of the department of orthodontics (straightening teeth) at Emory University and Dr. Mary Lynn Morgan, both of Atlanta, Ga., who say that parents should be informed fully about the condition of their children's mouths and the treatment needed.

"Departure of the parents from the scene of action brings miraculous results in every instance of behavior difficulty. The dentist's relationship with the child will be a happier one." If a child is impudent or resentful, the behavior problem is between the dentist and the child. Children expect their parents to reprimand them but when the dentist copes with the behavior problem and parents are not present to reprimand the child, the dentist has made a friend.

"A parent needs specific or exact education as to the conditions in the mouth of his own child, conditions as observed at the present and those in the foreseeable future. This information should not be given in the presence of the child."

Where the Flying Fishes Play

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands—On a mountain top looking out over the island-studded Caribbean is a stone bench labeled "Drake's Seat," where Sir Francis Drake is supposed to have sat and watched for pirates and the Spanish fleet in those days long before diesel-propelled ships, airplanes, or such modern detectors as radar.

On that seat, many years ago, my father used to sit when he was the first civil governor of the Virgin Islands, looking out over the Caribbean trying to chart a more prosperous economy from the ruins of abandoned sugar mills and the rum distilleries that were no more.

The problem of prosperity was fairly simple in Francis Drake's day. His fleet merely lurked in the channel between St. Thomas and the British island of Tortola and pounced on Spanish galleons loaded with gold as they started back to Spain. Or, later, British and Danish planters merely imported more African slaves for their sugar fields and reaped a wealth which made that area one of the most prosperous in the world.

But the British fleet which once made these islands wealthy also contributed to their downfall. When it blockaded France during the Napoleonic wars, Napoleon developed beet sugar. That, plus the end of slavery, plus the purchase of the Virgin Islands from Denmark by Woodrow Wilson in 1917, plus oil-burning vessels which no longer need dock at St. Thomas for coal, left these islands poverty stricken and hopeless, with the Negro population seething with unrest.

Islands Branded a 'Poorhouse'

It was at this point, at the height of the Hoover depression, that my father took over. Herbert Hoover, who appointed him, made one visit to the islands, publicly branded them "an effective poorhouse" and went back to worry about things closer to home. That was in 1931.

The problem of reviving those bankrupt islands eventually broke my father. He left the islands four years later, criticized and reviled. The white plantation owners conspired against him. The Negro politicians lampooned him. He was even accused of stealing four bags of cement.

But sometimes those who are reviled the most eventually are revered the most, and last week I was invited back to St. Thomas to dedicate the first public housing project in these islands. It was named the "Paul M. Pearson Gardens" in father's honor.

I had not been in the islands for 21 years. Frankly, I had not wanted to go there. Though my father was not embittered by the treatment which brought an early end to his life, I was. I had no desire to return.

I was glad, however, that I did. All over the islands are landmarks to the dreams that father dreamed, the dreams he made come true.

St. Thomas, where he laid the groundwork for a new tourist trade, is now teeming with visitors. The old pirate's den—Bluebird Castle—which he bought on behalf of the government and turned into a hotel, is so crowded you can't get in. In his day, private enterprise wouldn't gamble on the tourist trade; hence father's move in remodeling Bluebird Castle. But today the enterprising firm of Kessler and Behn has put up the magnificent Virgin Island Hotel, while a dozen others have blossomed all over the islands.

Scuffed at Organization

Half the population of St. Croix was unemployed when father took over. The three Danish sugar mills were closed and the Red Cross had sent down from Washington to feed the people.

But last week I saw the factory, run by the Virgin Islands Corporation which he organized, belching smoke and gulping truckloads of sugar cane as fast as they could be hauled in. And I couldn't help remembering, as I watched a giant crane heap sugar cane in the maw of the mill, how the local plantation owners scoffed at father's organization of this cooperative company. Yet doing an excellent job of running it today is the son of the big plantation owner who most opposed it.

Good Job Done

I still found some diaphans who wrung their hands over "Pearson policies." They didn't like the fact that he put across universal suffrage in the islands, removed the requirement that only property owners could vote.

A few even deplored the fact that educational standards had risen, that new schools had been built, that father had persuaded Tuskegee, Fisk University, Howard, Hampton and other Negro colleges in the north to grant scholarships to Virgin Island teachers, most of whom then lacked even high school training.

But even the diaphans admitted he had done a good job on such things as the Virgin Islands National Bank and the V.I. Cooperative which now sells thousands of straw hats, handbags and native mats annually.

Danish currency and a Danish bank still dominated the finances of the islands when Father took over. But after long haggling with the RFC, Father finally floated a $150,000 loan to establish an all-American national bank. It took him weeks to persuade the RFC to part with a mere $150,000—perhaps because he didn't know the mink-coat technique. On top of this he had to sell $25,000 shares of stock locally. This was like pulling teeth. Local businessmen just did not want to invest in the island.

Finally, by his own personal solicitation he sold the bank stock—for $50 a share. Last week that same stock of the Virgin Islands National Bank sold for $183 a share! It's been earning a dividend of 10 per cent.

Memorial in Hearts of Men

After Father left the Virgin Islands in 1935 he became public utility administrator under PWA. That was long before the Taft Public Housing Act and it took a lot of pioneering to put slum clearance across. In California, for instance, a law banned any help from federal funds for public housing, and Father undertook to persuade the legislature to change the law.

After a month of shuttling between Sacramento and San Francisco, he succeeded. The law was revoked. A few days later, Father died. A letter he left asked that no marker be placed on his grave. He wanted only to be remembered in the hearts of men. So his ashes were scattered off the Golden Gate.

But today, off the blue waters of the Caribbean, is being erected the Virgin Islands' first public housing project. And I know nothing would have pleased him more than to have these buildings for the humble and the poor named the Paul M. Pearson Gardens, as a memorial to him and the people he tried to help.

Floating 'Voice' Transmitter Hailed as Blow at Moscow as Truman Urges Peace Move

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5—President Truman has at last made it plain that the United States considers there is a distinct difference between the Moscow government and the people of the Soviet Union.

The appeal just made by the President from the deck of the floating radio transmitter—the Coast Guard vessel which is to be used as a roving broadcasting station—is much more explicit than any expression which has hitherto come from the United States government addressed to the people of the Soviet Union.

"Your government," said Mr. Truman, "with its newspapers and radios, may try to make you believe that the United States is a hostile country, bent on war. But that is not true. I want you to know that our highest aim is peace and friendship—and an end to the horrors of war."

The President hinted at the yoke under which the people of the Soviet Union are living when he remarked:

"We know that if you were free to say what you really believe, you would join with us to banish the fear of war and bring peace to the earth."

The message, which was broadcast in forty-six languages to most of the countries of the world, is one of the most powerful statements of America's basic position toward the Soviet Union that has been made.

"We are your friends," said Mr. Truman. "There are no differences between us that cannot be settled if your rulers will turn from their senseless policy of hate and terror, and follow the principles of peace."

This is equivalent to saying that the people of the Soviet Union must separate themselves from the policies of their rulers if the world is to become peaceful. It is a counterattack of positiveness which at least opens the way for further statements of American policy that cannot be "jammed" by technical devices. For the new Coast Guard cutter will move around without disclosing its location and, before the Moscow engineers can send out orders to the satellite radio stations to interfere with the signals, the American radio ship will have moved to another location and to another time on the schedule.

The idea is an ingenious one and this new ship might make it to the unfortunate victims of the plague in North Korea. American medical aid might be promised if the Communists would permit international teams to cross the battle line. This might be even more effective than the appeal just made by Secretary of State Acheson for the appointment of an international committee of Red Cross officials to investigate charges of germ warfare.

There are literally limitless opportunities for effective communication with the peoples behind the Iron Curtain if American policy makers are alert to take advantage of such opportunities.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—A force of American soldiers, our own people, arrived at the top of the Adriatic a few days ago to take position in the thin, dotted line which is being arrayed on this side of the iron curtain as a blood sacrifice on the altar of the Hyde Park Honkatonk whenever Stalin decides to attack. The Communist unions which control the port refused to unload our ships. Our men got ashore but, nevertheless, this was a fine demonstration of "labor solidarity" in strict accordance with the totalitarian principles of our National Labor Relations Board, the packed New Deal Supreme Court, the A.F. of L., the C.I.O. and F.D. Roosevelt.

There are many strong, clear precedents in the records of union conduct in our own country for this assumption by a union of power to tie up a seaport or the mines or the railroads of a nation.

During the late war, the national Maritime Union undertook to prevent the delivery of legitimate American commerce to Spain because the Spanish government had kicked the giblets out of the Muscovite army in the Spanish civil war.

Joe Curran, then, as now, president of the N.M.U., wrote me that World War II was an imperial war for the sordid profit of Britain and France until Hitler hit Russia. In that instant it became a people's war, the official Communist line, and Curran began to abuse our people for our reluctance to throw ourselves onto the Nazi bayonets and sacrifice American lives in place of Russian lives. A robust burn himself, Curran was smart enough to get his union to get him a total deferment. He was the boss of the union so this meant that he wrote his own exemption, and some decent citizen, possibly a high school boy, had to march in his place.

Union racketeers, including Communist leaders, were indispensable to the "war effort." They still are. Last year some Russian mink and caviar came into our ports and became hot cargo because groups of splendid American patriots refused to touch the dirty stuff. They refused, that is, until by coincidence, agreement was reached with the boss racketeers whereby the work was done on Sunday at Sunday rates of pay. The invitation to a steamship line or a consignee who has paid dollars for his merchandise in a foreign market to slip a few thousand dollars to some dirty extortionist with an official license from the Labor Relations Board to blackmail lawful commerce needs no emphasis.

This is not an attempt to review the vicious history of the labor monopolies created by F. D. Roosevelt under cover of a national calamity which that ghostly charlatan purposely prolonged for years, finally choosing war industry as his solution to unemployment. This is a plain, sincere presentation of the fact that the Communist boycotts and strikes against our war preparations in Europe are based on precedents which the criminal forces called unions long ago established in our country. For years we forced millions of our good workers to submit to exploitation by Communist traitors whose character was well known to most of us but was denied by that pietistic old hypocrite, Philip Murray, the president of the CIO, who now has the gall to cry "liar" and "fool" at a representative of U. S. Steel for trying to resist the CIO's inflationary demands. Many a decent newspaperman no longer reads the rotten Newspaper Guild as a defiance to Heywood Broun's sneering band of anti-Americans in the controlling positions was forced to pay a big fine for "reinstatement."

Murray's present program at home has no other purpose than to wrest control of our country from the custody of our elected government and give it over to a lot of dictators and, eventually, to one grand dictator such as his own old boss, John L. Lewis. Murray never was a "leader." He was nothing but a servile, mewling boy, had to march in his place. Union racketeers, including Communist leaders, were indispensable to the "war effort." ## So They Say... Questions—Answers

You must understand that the Soviet Union and the People's Democracies are not one of your colonies, and if you stretch your paws there we will back them off. —Alexei Pavlov, Soviet delegate to UN.

Four dark horsemen of the Apocalypse trouble Europe's dreams: War, Bolshevism, Inflation and Unemployment. —Ferruccio Parri, former Italian premier.

This decision (his conviction on 12 counts of sedition) will make the lunatic fringe—so well represented by persecutors—laugh as Hitler's innocent victims were herded into gas chambers and "destroyed." —Steve Nelson, former western Pennsylvania Communist boss.

Q—Why was the red carnation chosen to be the state flower of Ohio?

A—It was selected by the Legislature in honor of William McKinley, whose favorite flower it was.

Q—What is sidereal time?

A—It is star time. It is measured by the rotation of the earth in relation to the stars. Sidereal time measures the actual spin of the earth, separate and apart from its orbital rotation about the sun.

Too Lazy To Eat

Elijah Fenton (1683-1730), English poet and playwright, who glorified in the name of the "Laziest Englishman," was too lazy to eat. Between 1714 and 1730 he refused to eat. The only way his friends could make him swallow nourishment was to put him to bed and feed him with a spoon. He drank two bottles of wine a day since the age of 20, but even the wine had to be spooned to him. He died of indolence (thus reads his epitaph) which is only a circumscription for laziness.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I would be very much interested to see the new book on local history called Landmarks of New Canaan. It contains 512 pages and is published by the New Canaan Historical Society in a privately-printed edition of 1,000 copies. The book contains 100 articles and 40 black and white drawings. Contributors to this book included many professional writers and artists in the Fairfield county community of only 8,000. The material deals with the history of the town since its founding in 1730, as it appeared in the past and as it is in the present. The New Canaan Advertiser, a weekly newspaper, Richard B. Fant, is president of the historical society, and he presented four, leather-bound copies to four distinguished residents of the community in Dec. 1951 when the book was first on display at the Congregational Church there. The page size of the book is 8x11 inches and it will be available to the public for $8.50. They say, that houses churches and local landmarks form the subject matter of the book.

So I hope that Kingston, with its coming 300th anniversary, and 30,000 residents will be able to produce a book, or volume of books for the future generation. I hope that the anniversary celebration will not be a puff of excitement with pageantry, parades, and speeches and nothing else. I say it in all sincerity because so much wonderful material is brought to me continuously in book form, pamphlets, pictures, maps, etc. It is loaned to me and then it goes back to the owner. I feel so much of that material should be reprinted or copied into many good size volumes and perhaps sold at $2 a month or other installment arrangement so that it could be had in complete form for those who desire to have everything possible on local history. We are now 300 years old, what better time could be chosen to collect these precious items, if another 50 years goes by much of it will disappear forever. If a small community like New Canaan can put out a 512-page illustrated book, surely Kingston, four times larger could do at least as well.

Now you take the Wayne County Historical Society, they produced a fine little book called The Delaware and Hudson Canal by Edwin D. LeRoy and a complimentary copy was sent to me by James A. O'Boyle of 15 Moore street, New York. I think they have a copy of it at the Kingston Library. There are photo-static copies of the advertisements, pertaining to the canal in olden times, photographs and sketches of the canal and its locks. All the other data is so set up that it can easily be found. It is a clever little book which covers all the details of the famous old canal which built up our Rondout and half of our city back in the late 1800's. (1828 to 1898) There are many old timers who still remember the old 'canal days' and make the run of the 108 miles and remember many of the 108 locks from Honesdale down to Rondout. Much of this first hand information can yet be collected from the old timers before it is too late.

The Pony Express still rides in the state of Arizona.

LEFT ISN'T RIGHT—The American Automobile Association's mental clutch slipped a bit when this 50th-anniversary commemorative three-cent stamp was designed. Driver of the ancient auto should have been on the right-hand side of the vehicle, not the left. However, the stamp is in the works, and will be on sale in time for the anniversary celebration in Chicago on March 4.

As Pegler Sees It

profess that they are only preaching the spirit of certain encyclicals. But none of these papal writs ever endorsed criminal conduct and the violence against the lawful authority of our government that gave rise to Murray's empire. None of these sophisticates ever dares to try to justify the bad conduct of their proteges. They hedge away from that issue and resort to muddifying arguments on the origins of separate elements of socialism and communism. They are trying to create clerical power over groups of workers of many religions or none at all so as to pit them against the Communist dictators. But I will no sooner submit to abuse and exploitation by clerics than by heretics, and most intelligent workers think the same.

The special branch of Scotland Yard is belatedly investigating a system of small, jocular strikes in the British war industries. These strikes have followed the plan used by unions of Murray's CIO in World War 2. The CIO adopted it from the French Communists and owes its existence to that device. Britain has no laws like those which we slowly adopted to harass Communists, but it is something, anyway, when the yard begins to suspect that a Communist might be partial to the enemy.

The union movement is the most dangerous internal menace that ever challenged the rights of our people and the integrity of our government. All over Europe,

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, March 4—Word has reached here of the death Jan. 31 at Bryn Athyn, Pa., of Madeline G. Bostock, wife of Edward C. Bostock, and a summer resident of Shokan for many years. Mrs. Bostock, 63, is survived by her husband and the following children: Edward C. Bostock, 3rd, Joan Odhner, Annette Brown, Zara Bostock, Bernice Lee, Ruth Lynch, Peter G. and Robert M. Bostock. The family home is in Bryn Athyn and their summer place near Toran's Hook Mountain is the one time Henry Coons farmhouse (girlhood home of Mrs. Rupert Everett of Kingston).

The birthday featured here for Thursday, Feb. 27, should have been that of Katie Davis, well known Krumville woman, instead of Mrs. John Marshall (daughter of Mrs. Davis whose natal anniversary comes later. Mrs. Davis, widow of Stephen Davis, Krumville farmer, was born at Acorn Hill, daughter of Ephraim and Asenath Markle. She has six children: Harold of Hurley, Raymond, Mabel Vollmer, Helen Marshall, Ethel Gray and Lester S. Davis, and a number of grandchildren.

Readers who get a big kick out of burning wood in stove or furnace ought to live up around Arkville where the fuel is so cheap they don't have to stretch it. A handle factory up there sells wood for 30 cents a cord at the mill or $3.50 per load (about 3 cords) delivered in the area. This may be ash and hickory, of course, but what's the matter with that—ash is best green fuel there is, and the tough hickory when dried out is equal in heat value to coal, pound for pound.

Dr. Abraham Rotkov and wife, formerly of Ashokan, suffered bruises recently when a friend's car in which they were riding skidded into a pole on upper Main street in Fleischmanns. Saturday night traffic in the mountain resort burg was jammed for two hours following the accident according to the Catskill Mountain News.

Column readers can qualify as old timers if they remember when there was a copy of Ten Nights in a Barroom on every sitting room table. Mrs. D. H. Beers of Oneonta evidently kept hers as she was the first citizen up at the end of the local railroad line to offer a copy to the Stroudsburg, Pa., board of education which needed 10 of them in order to inherit a $25,000 bequest. The board in fact was deluged with offers of the book and now will get the money under terms of a will.

Mid-Hudson Dairy Group Will Hear Erie Assemblyman

The second annual dinner meeting of the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson area will be held Tuesday, March 11, at 6:30 p. m. at the Poughkeepsie Grand Hall, Manchester road, Route 55.
William Sadler, Republican, representing the Eighth Assembly District of Erie county, will be the guest speaker.
Sadler was elected to the New York State Assembly in November, 1950. He has been associated with the dairy industry for 25 years. Sadler, who is manager of the Arcade Farms Co-operative, serves as secretary to the Niagara Frontier Milk Producers' Bargaining Agency and also as director of the New York State American Dairy Association.
A new film, Weight Reduction Through Diet, will be shown during the program.
Reservations for the dinner must be made by March 7. Locally, they may be made at Beatty's Dairy.

Livingston appeared last year at the Ladies Night function of the Kingston Rotary Club where he presented a very interesting discussion and demonstration. Livingston brings with him an extensive collection of properties with which to illustrate his talk and show the actual behavior of chemicals and their derivatives and combinations. Those who saw and heard him at the Rotary meeting were amazed and many have expressed a desire to hear his talk and witness the demonstrations. Tickets have been made available to the public for the Hurley Chamber of Commerce dinner and may be procured through Rowe's shoe store, John street, Kingston, but must be secured before March 10. None will be sold at the door.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 5 (AP)—Profit-taking made heavy inroads on stock market gains today, and prices held to the upside with difficulty.

Price changes spread out over a range extending to between 1 and 2 points either way at the extremes, but the plus signs held the edge.

Trading started fast with prices higher, and this continued during the first hour. There was a perceptible slowdown in the second hour as prices eased away from their best under profit-taking. Trading thereafter continued at a moderate pace with prices holding fairly steady in their secondary position.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator assures that you must be as wild as he is when you try to figure out what actually is being accomplished in Europe to forestall a possible Russian aggression.

Peculiarly enough there is a "psychological" reason why we have difficulty in appraising international developments—to say nothing of the complexity of the problems themselves, I use the word "psychological" for want of a better term.

What I am referring to is the deep-seated trait of pessimism and sourness with which, it seems to me, we look upon all of these postwar questions as they arise.

How often do you pick up a magazine article or a newspaper column—which purports to interpret the event in question—and find that it is anything but negative in its approach? It often appears that all of us who venture to comment on current affairs do so with the foregone, pre-conceived opinion that "it won't work."

There is an approach to sticky and perplexing problems which we should immediately adopt. Be contrary. Instead of starting off in our thinking with "what's wrong with this situation?" wouldn't it be a good idea if we used the opposite approach and said to ourselves, "what's right with this situation?"

Try it out sometime. You'll find you get an entirely different set of ideas to ruminate over. I even tried this out in a discussion group not long ago in New York when the stock market came into the conversation. Several people asked: "What's wrong with the market?" Just as an experiment I put in my ear and asked for comments on "what's right with the market?" It was surprising the turns the conversations took.

Idea were brought out that I feel sure would have been completely overlooked. However, this piece started off about developments in Europe, so let us get back on the track.

So, in trying to get some understanding of NATO and what happened at Lisbon—and what is likely to happen in the near future, suppose we tackle the question from the angle of what transpired that is encouraging rather than inspiring to conclusions that it was all "talk" and nothing permanently good will come of it.

It's true, of course, that the government fell in France almost immediately. When tax proposals were presented to the French National Assembly. But it is in news when the government falls in France. The government headed by M. Edgar Faure was the thirteenth since the Liberation. So there is nothing to get particularly riled up over this. Another government will be formed shortly, probably before you read this, and the question of France's contribution will be taken up anew.

By the same token, there may well be heated debates and crises in West Germany, too.

But if we are going to look before we leap, let us look at the yond these immediate dark foregrounds in the picture what do we see? First of all, it seems to me, we see what was considered not many months ago as an impossible "agreement in principle." That west European nations could never get together in a common cause.

Everyone in close touch with European affairs and national characteristics would have said—say, three years ago—that "unity" was impossible. The idea of a "United Europe" has been thought of as an idealistic brain-child that would never see daylight. Yet, I am sure that after the Lisbon meetings one might think to himself that perhaps it won't be so long after all before western European nations can ally themselves closely.

Self-protection is an old law of preservation. And that is what nations are faced with today. Self-protection comes from self-protection, and if by combining through NATO West Europe believes it will protect itself, then public opinion may soon support the initiative set forth by her foreign ministers.

In the meantime, there will be many developments that will make us feel sure that the whole scheme will fall through.

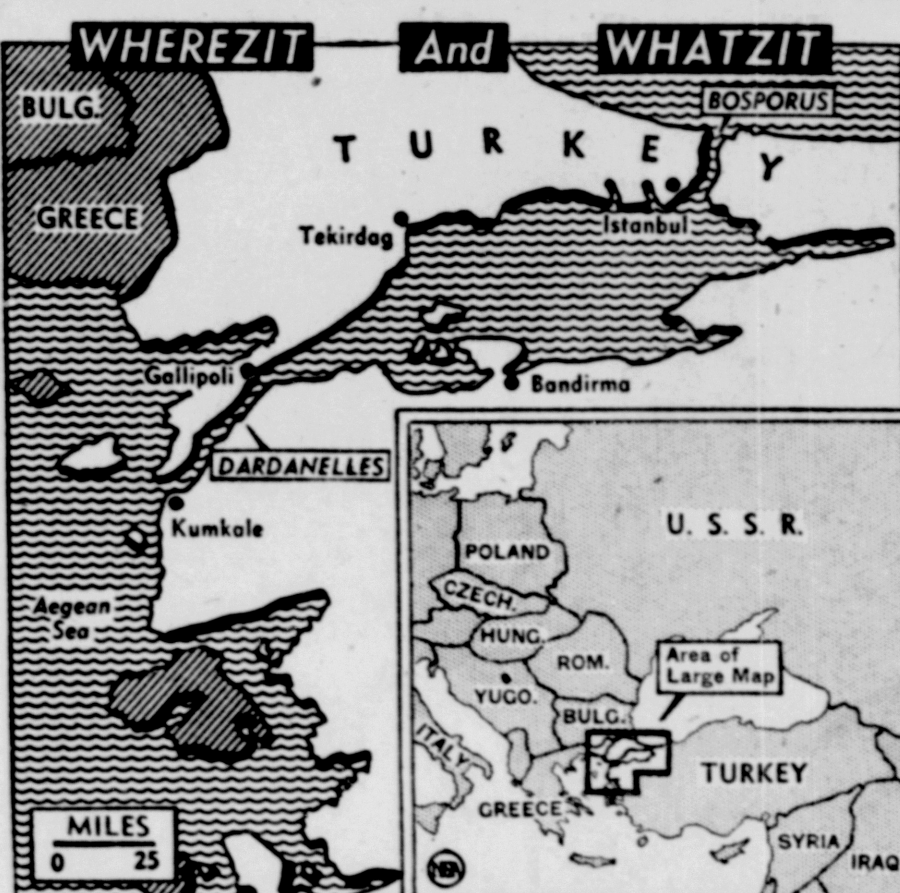

We in the United States, when the President tells us this week that it will cost US, will be inclined to yell bloody murder and say "why can't those people over there support themselves, and get behind their allied plans without our having to shell out another huge sum of billions?"

Ya, when you look at the financial condition of Great Britain and France—both near bankrupt—and threatened with severe inflation—you are forced to decide whether the protection to us, through NATO, is worth the contribution.

Considering the way the world has gone since the war ended, and considering our foreign policies and decision to aid Europe, it looks to this observer as if we're well in now and can't very well get out. Still and all there is vast encouragement for the long pull, as I see it, from the Lisbon conferences.

Trains Halted 8 Hours

New York, March 5 (AP)—Train traffic on the Manhattan bridge was halted today after being halted for almost eight hours because of a short circuit in a third rail. Passenger trains, both east and west bound, of the B.M.T. Sea Beach, West End and Brighton lines began crossing the bridge at 5:35 a. m. (EST) after a test train was run from 42nd street to the Myrtle avenue station in Brooklyn and back again. The power blowout occurred last night about 150 feet from the Manhattan end of the bridge.

THE DARDANELLES have been fought over by empire builders since the Trojan War. Persian conqueror Xerxes crossed from Asia into Europe over the straits in 480 B.C. and Alexander went the other way in 334 B.C. The Crimean War was fought to keep the straits from Russian control. In a more romantic vein, Leander is alleged to have swum the Dardanelles (then called the Hellespont) nightly to visit his love, Hero. His swimming feat was matched once by the English poet Byron and also by the late adventurer Richard Halliburton. But, it is Soviet pressure on Turkey that brings the historic waterway into the news today. Russia is sensitive about the Dardanelles because they offer a sea gateway—the only one—from the Mediterranean to the Soviet Black Sea shores. As one of the losers in World War I, Turkey was forbidden by the Lausanne Treaty to fortify a strip along the Dardanelles and Bosphorus. The Montreux convention of 1936, noting the ominous rise of Hitler, permitted the Turks to rearm the area, and, if at war or threatened by aggression, to close the straits. With Turkey likely to be admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Russia is taking an even harder look at the Dardanelles. The Kremlin recently warned that Turkish entry into the Atlantic alliance would be viewed as "an act of aggression" against Russia.

Follow Rule for Melding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I still get dozens of letters from players who are doubtful about the initial meld when the pile is frozen. "The pile was frozen by the dealer," one reader begins, "and after a few plays the top card was an ace. I held two aces, and wanted to put them down and take the pile."

"The opponents said I had to meld from my hand, and could take the discard pile later on, if I ever got a chance. Is that right?"

No, it isn't a bit right. It was all right to put down the two aces, provided the count was only 50 points, add the ace from the discard pile, and pick up the rest of the pile.

"The top card of a frozen pile was a seven," writes another fan. "I put down three aces to meet the count of 50 points, and then put down two sevens to take the pile. The opponents said I couldn't take the pile because I didn't need the sevens to meet the count requirement. What about this?"

Also wrong. You're always allowed to meld more than the minimum count. The rule prevents you only from melding less.

The players who have trouble on this point don't seem to have trouble with an unfrozen pile. It's just the freeze that bothers them.

Here's an easy way to be clear on the rule. If you're going to take the discard pile for your initial meld, it doesn't matter whether the pile is frozen or not. The rule is exactly the same.

Whether or not the pile is frozen, you need a pair of natural cards that match the top card of the discard pile. The total amount of your meld must be at least as much as your minimum count requirement; or it may be more. You are allowed to count the top card of the discard pile as part of your minimum count; but you aren't compelled to do so.

In short, any meld that would be legal with an unfrozen pile, will still be legal if the pile is frozen. Mind you, this applies only when you are trying to take the discard pile for your initial meld.

The difference applies only to melds that come after your initial meld has been made. Then, if the pile is still frozen, you need a pair of matching natural cards to take the previous discard. That would not be so if the pile were unfrozen.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Jackson, Miss., March 4 (AP)—A 25-year-old Negro Korean veteran will take the stand today to describe the torture he allegedly received at the hands of five Mississippi peace officers in 1950. The soldier, Murry (Sunshine) Gray, was flown back here from the Korean front as a prosecution witness in the civil rights trial of the five officers. Gray was handcuffed to a tree and beaten, the indictment said, in July, 1950, when he was a civilian living at Magnolia, Miss., about 85 miles south of Jackson. The five officers allegedly took the Negro from a jail cell to a remote spot outside of town where he was beaten to "extort force and coerced" a confession of a filling station burglary. Meanwhile there was a widely circulated report that another Negro had confessed to New Orleans police that he committed the filling station burglary.

IN-LAW SITUATION

It is unlikely that the in-laws described in the following letter are intentionally unreasonable: "My husband and I live in his parents' house but we have our own complete and separate apartment. Almost every time when any of my husband's relatives come to visit his parents, they think we should go and visit them too and are greatly displeased if we don't. I can't see this at all and have refused to go. It is my contention that when these relatives visit my parents-in-law they are their guests and, that they should come to our apartment when they want to see us. Will you please tell me if I am right?"

If these visitors live in the same town, they should certainly on occasion go to see you and not expect you to go down to your mother-in-law's apartment to see them there. If on occasion someone from out of town has come to see them and they would very much like to see you, it would not be unreasonable to send for you, and under these circumstances it would be very rude on your part not to go if you can.

Frankness Excusable

Dear Mrs. Post: When someone calls at your house on a rainy day, is it considered rude to ask that person to please wipe off his (or her) shoes before coming into the house so as not to track mud all over the floor and carpet?

Answer: It is quite all right if you say in a light-hearted tone of voice, "Oh, please wipe your shoes on the mat; we've done nothing but clean the hall all day."

Second Envelope

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the purpose of a second envelope of a wedding invitation and announcement?

Answer: The purpose is to emphasize the importance of the contents—also to insure the freshness of the inner envelope in case anyone might care to keep the wedding cards as souvenirs.

Is your question about the engagement ring or announcing the engagement? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet "E-1, Engagements," will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Popular Fashions Modeled at Ahavath Israel Show

Despite the inclement weather, more than 175 persons attended the first annual Fashion Show to be presented by the Ahavath Israel Sisterhood Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Fashions and accessories were modeled through the courtesy of many local shops including Schneider's, Leventhal's, Smart Shop, Goldman's, Barbizon, Gertrude Weyte, Helen Davenport, Gold's and Al Heisman's. Hair styling was done by Jack Martin and Florence Ludlow. Co-chairmen in charge of the affair, assisted by numerous committees, were the Meses. Hy Greenspan, Harry Spiegel, Martin Garber and Loretta Solomon. Proceeds from the show will be contributed to the fund for the construction of the congregations new vestry hall which is expected to get under way in the spring. Models shown in the photo, right to left, are standing, Mrs. Murray Greene, Mrs. Meyer Basch, Mrs. Herbert Siller, Miss Lillian Levine and Mrs. Jean Singer; seated, (r. to l.) Mrs. John Gilligan and Mrs. Oscar Nussbaum. (Freeman photo)

High School Ends Regular Season With 71-46 Victory Over Beacon

Hooker Sinks 23 To Come Within Five of New High

Maroon Cagers Ready For Sectional Opener

Kingston High School's varsity basketball squad is razor sharp and ready for the sectional opener Friday night against Amsterdam High at the municipal auditorium.

Coach G. Warren Kias' cagers turned in their third straight standout performance last night in trouncing Beacon High, 71-46, on the Dutchess court.

Leroy Hooker rimmed 23 points after a slow start to move to within six points of a new all-time scoring record for a whole season at KHS. His 23 markers boosted his seasonal total to 452.

Ronnie Scheffel holds the present record of 457 set in the 1949-50 campaign, with 391 regular season points and 66 in three sectional contests.

Beacon made its best showing in the first period, staying within three points of the Kiamens, 15-12, but the Maroons broke the game apart with a 20-7 edge in the second period and 23-11 bulge in the third period.

Coach Kias inserted his seconds for the last six minutes of play and Beacon ground out a 16-13 margin in the stretch.

While Hooker was unobtrusively approaching his seasonal average of 25 points, Don Madison and "Yip" Koenig were doing yeoman service from the floor. Madison unfurled eight deuces for 16 markers and Koenig tied him with seven buckets and two conversions.

Hermie Sickler, a late comer, dunked seven points. Sadler, Beacon guard, led the home forces with 10 points. Pearly Watkins, the club's best scorer was shackled to four points.

The boxscore:

While Ulster county golfers, particularly those of Kingston vintage, do not appear unduly alarmed about the bleak prospects of the future, Dutchess county blithely continues to build new golf courses.

A beautiful blend of politics and big business has combined to give Tom Devey's home county 13 golf courses; thirteen, count them. And the 14th is on the way.

Contrast that to Ulster county and you find a drab picture. Golf pressure is admittedly greater in Dutchess but it is growing in Kingston and Ulster county. The problem must be faced sooner or later. There is a new order in golf, the kind that develops caddies into golf champions to the complete consternation of the old blue bloods.

But these folks in the vast new army of linksmen demand hubsraum. Not the kind Hitler advocated. Just a nice golf course where they can enjoy themselves as they pay their way. Golf is no longer a game restricted solely for the aristocracy.

Speaking of politics and big business—which means big money—what two more ideal weapons does a community or an area need to improve its public and private facilities.

The 14th golf course in Dutchess county will rise on the site of the present Crawford Farms at Millbrook, formerly the estate of the late Robert L. Burton. Chris Nielson, president of the Dautless Towing Co., New York City, has completed negotiations for the sale of 145 acres of his property to a group headed by R. R. Edwards, of Washington, D. C., a golf architect.

The new layout will be known as the Colony Golf and Country Club. And so far as we know, V. J. Andretta is not a stockholder in the new corporation.

Plans call for the construction of a modern 18-hole course, according to George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie sports ed. A golf club will be formed.

In addition to the regular course, Mr. Edwards plans to install the newly-patented "night golf" layout which will cover 14 acres. This course will be nine holes and will be lighted for play after dark. The Colony Club is reported to be the first in the nation planning to make the innovation available to its members.

The 30-room building on the estate will be converted into a clubhouse and construction of the course is expected to begin soon.

There are, believe it or not, 13 golf courses in Dutchess county, including such a masterpiece of recreation development, the James Baird State course, the ever expanding IBM layout, the rugged Dutchess Country Club.

The others in case you don't know are College Hill, a public course operated by the city of Poughkeepsie; Hudson River State Hospital, Hopewell Junction, Red Hook, Millbrook, Southern Dutchess of Beacon, Pawling Quaker Hill in Pawling, Harlem Valley State Hospital, the Berkshire Country Club at Wingdale.

In addition, the Taconic State Park Commission plans to construct a course on the Staatsburg property given to the commission by Mr. and Mrs. Lydie Hull. The State Legislature must act on a request for additional funds before work is finished. A nine-hole layout is planned but the course may be expanded at a future date.

Here the picture is not too bright for the future, if golf continues to grow at its present pace. The thruway will slice several holes from Wiltwyck and a re-building job is necessary. Twanalskill is near the bursting point in player pressure for a private club. Woodstock offers a beautiful playing area and can absorb some of the pressure when facilities have been improved. And the folks up in the artist village are doing a nice job.

Napanoch, Ellenville, Lake Mohonk are out of reach of the average player who has only a few hours at their disposal.

The old golfers who have paid their membership fees for years have nothing to worry about. They are solidly entrenched. The clamor is due to come from the new golfers, mushrooming with each season. That's a problem that must be faced eventually. In the meantime, with the thruway on our side of the river, why not an 18-hole state-operated course for Ulster county?

Wiltwyck Motors Tip Jones Dairy, 82-50

Peck and Bud Scheffel Are Leading Scorers

Wiltwyck Motors vaulted back into the YMCA "A" League pennant picture last night, with a thumping 82-50 victory over Jones Dairy.

A slight favorite at the start of the contest, the Motormen flashed extra sharp form to surprise the railbirds by their margin of victory.

Vince Peck and Bud Scheffel set the pace as the Motormen flashed brilliant form in the first, third and fourth periods. They racked up a 53-31 edge in the second half.

Peck hit with 21 points and Scheffel had 22, each with 10 deuces. Don Haggerty tossed 16 and Big Bill Klein had 11. Dan Schrader's 12 paced the Dairy-men, who couldn't get started.

resorted to individual play and really went to pieces.

Mr. Shortstop Finds Age Is Big Factor

Burbank, Calif., March 5 (AP)—It's a tall guess whether shortstop Marty Marion will be able to serve as a player with the St. Louis Browns, but the former Cardinal manager has given the club a boost in morale.

Working out smoothly at short, the lean veteran has added confidence to the hustling youngsters of Manager Rogers Hornsby.

Marion, 34, wasn't very peppy, though, as he came into the clubhouse yesterday.

"I'm as stiff as a new pair of shoes," he said. "Looks like it takes a fella a bit longer to get into shape when he gets older."

Trinity Lutheran Beats Redeemers, 59-50 Mikan Retains To Assure First Place Tie in Church Loop Scoring Touch

Trinity Lutheran's smooth shooting basketweavers assured themselves of nothing worse than a tie for first place in the Senior Division of the Protestant Church League last night, when they turned back a stubborn Redeemer Lutheran squad, 59-50.

Four of the Trinity cagers hit in double figures to offset the usual sparkling performance of Bob Baumer, who was the individual scoring star with 23 points.

Trinity picked up a five-point edge in the first period, 16-11, and added two more points in the second and fourth quarters.

Richie Gollnick rimmed 20 points and Bill Marks had 18 for the Trinity. Roger Brandt and Ronnie Marks shared 21.

Glaser and Moore Old Timers Guests

Annual Baseball Dinner At Hofbrau on March 11

The second annual Old Timers baseball banquet will honor Carl "Dutch" Glaser and Joseph "Kid" Moore, two stars of the 1920s and 1930s, Tommy Davitt, chairman of the dinner committee, said today.

The banquet will be held at Chic Provenzano's Hofbrau on Tuesday, March 11, at 7 p. m. Bernard A. "Bud" Culloton was guest of honor at the first dinner last year.

Invitations are restricted to players and officials identified with local baseball in the pre-war era covering the Kingston Colonials and All Stars.

Glaser was a smooth-fielding third sacker and steady hitter for several years with John McCauley's All Stars. In recent years he has had two sons—George and Bill playing in the City Baseball League. George has also been prominent in the YMCA Basketball League. Glaser was recently awarded a 25-year citation by Electrol Inc.

Joseph Moore, known to the trade as "Kid" served in various roles, particularly at second base and in the outfield. Fleet of foot, he was a superb fielder and good hitter. He is perhaps the area's best known stepplejack. His son, Donald Moore, played for KHS and some independent ball.

Awards will be made to the two old timers and Chairman Davitt said he expects about 50 veterans ball players to turn out for the affair. Entertainment will follow the dinner.

MASKED MARVELS AT IBM COURT

Joe and Jiggs, above, are a couple of the original Chicago Masked Marvels who will appear at the IBM court, Poughkeepsie, against the Philadelphia Gears on Saturday, March 8, at 8:15 p. m. The Gears have appeared in 42 of the 48 states and once won 111 games in succession. The Gears will feature former college stars of the Philadelphia district.

Boys Club Plans Baseball Films

It's a bit early to be talking about baseball on the amateur level but members of the Kingston Boys' Club are already clamoring for action and director Nick Cosmos has decided to give it to them in the form of motion pictures.

A series of films have been procured through the American and National Leagues Motion Picture Division headed by Lou Fonseca. Several of them are documentary and instructional.

The schedule released today by Director Cosmos:

March 6—World Series of 1947
March 21—World Series of 1951
April 1—Batting Stars of Baseball
April 4—World Series of 1942
April 10—Inside Baseball
April 18—Pitching Stars of Baseball
April 23—Double Play Kings

"These films were booked to give our baseball aspirants who are clamoring about baseball, an opportunity to see how their idols perform," Cosmos said. "It also enables them to receive instructions from the best players in the business."

The films were distributed so that action pictures would be shown first to satisfy the youngsters, with the instructional films scheduled early in April when the kids will be flocking to the lots for the first ball games of the season.

All youngsters who desire to see these films are invited to attend the showings at the Boys' Club, 139 Greenkill avenue.

White Plains—Bill Bossin, 123½, Pittsburgh, knocked out Sonny Bishop, 120, Trenton, N. J., H. Mollenhauer 128 109 94 331 3.

Secreto is Both Goat and Hero in Spectacular Game

Causes Costly Technical But Wins With Two Fouls

Frank Secreto, the KHS Jayvees' best scorer, experienced the sensation of being a goat and hero within a space of a few seconds in last night's thrilling pre-lim at Beacon.

Coach John Gilligan's cagers, en route to their 13th victory of the season, had staged a magnificent uphill battle to tie the altitudinous Beaconites, 54-54, with only 40 seconds of play remaining.

Secreto was charged with a technical foul and Patterson, the high scoring Beacon center, converted to give the home club a 55-54 margin.

On the next sequence Secreto was fouled and was entitled to two shots under the three-minute rule. Here was the spot for the kid to redeem himself and show his class.

He Comes Through

Secreto didn't fail himself or his teammates. His first conversion knotted the score at 55-55 and the second attempt swished cleanly through the rim for the winning marker. The Maroons froze the ball and put on a press that carried them safely to the last second on the official clock. The final score: Kingston 56, Beacon 55.

Secreto emerged with 20 points to pace the Kingston squad, but it was team balance and play that gave Coach Gilligan's charges their most impressive victory of the season.

Skipper Brodhead wore eye-glasses for the first time in actual competition and responded with 14 points on seven deuces. His set shots kept Kingston in the crucial stages of the game. Jim Colclough rimmed 10 and John Godwin, making his debut at center as a replacement for Roger Brandt, who quit school, gave a good account of himself and tallied nine points.

Kingston "held" Patterson, giant Beacon center, to 23 points. The big pivot scored 25 points in the first meeting of the teams. Garo dropped 13 from a forward slot for Beacon.

is still at work on his switch to first base. Manager Red Rolfe plans to start Ben Taylor at the post in the Detroit Tigers opening exhibition game.

Taylor, late of the St. Louis Browns, played in only 33 major league games last year and batted .258. He'll be at first when the Tigers meet the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater Saturday.

Facts truck owners should know about hauling bigger payloads

WANT to know why you can carry more payload with Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks?
First, they've got better weight distribution. This means that bigger payload capacity is engineered into a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. Many trucks carry too much weight on the rear axle, not enough on the front. But in a Dodge truck, the right proportion of the load is carried on each axle.

Besides this better weight distribution, a shorter wheelbase provides easier turning, easier parking. Come in and try one of these payload-packed, easier-handling trucks for yourself. Get all the facts about hauling bigger payloads.

Carry more! In Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks, the engine is placed forward and the front axle back—for better distribution of the load. You can carry bigger payloads—without overloading.

Haui faster! Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks are powered by high-compression engines to give you top performance with rock-bottom economy. Big power gives you pull and speed that save time.

Get longer life! There's a Dodge truck that's "Job-Rated" to fit your road and load condition—with load-carrying and load-moving unit factory-engineered to stand up on toughest service.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Composer Back After Recent Trip

Woodstock, March 5—Hanus A. Schimmerling, composer, pianist and choral director, returned to his Ohayo Mountain home, Harmony Hill, this week after a three weeks' visit to New York. While in New York Schimmerling attended a preview of a Yugoslav motion picture, the Magic Slav, soon to be released in the United States, as a part of the friendship program between this country and Yugoslavia. "It is a noble fairy tale, emphasizing the idea of liberty, love and truth to be the highest ideals of mankind," according to Schimmerling.

"I saw many prominent Americans at the preview preceded by a social gathering at the United Nations Delegation Building, with Consul General Miodrag Markovic acting as host," continued Schimmerling. "A week earlier a reception was given by the consul general in honor of the Metropolitan Opera's star, Zinka Milanov, after her Carnegie Hall recital. Some of the guests there were also old friends of Woodstock, many of whom promised to accept my invitation to come to our home next summer, including Consul Markovic."

At the consul general's home Schimmerling met Mr. and Mrs. Manucher Yektai, artists and summer residents in Byrdcliffe. Yektai will have a one-man show of his paintings in New York before returning here.

Prepares for Book

While in New York Schimmerling made preparations for the publication of a book and collection of folksongs and other musical compositions for Yugoslavia. Schimmerling also hopes to present in Woodstock this summer a Yugoslav singer, Vlasta Cvitanovic, who recently arrived in New York from Italy.

During his stay in New York, Schimmerling attended a number of the season's most outstanding musical events, among them radio station WNYC's annual music festival, a performance of Elektra at the Metropolitan conducted by Fritz Reiner, and the Respighi version of Monteverdi's Orfeo under Mitropoulos. He heard a program of new works presented by Milton Katims at Hunter College, among them, he reported, "an excellent symphony for strings by Jean Rivier." He attended the latest concert of the National Orchestra Association, with his friend Leon Barzin conducting, at which time the orchestra presented the premiere of the new Symphony No. 2, by Eli Siegmeister, who presented a series of concerts in Woodstock in 1950.

Last Sunday Schimmerling was entertained, along with Mr. and Mrs. Engelbert Roentgen at the Riverside Drive studio of Mrs. Louise Zemlinsky, singer and voice coach who is a summer resident on the Maxwell road. The group made plans for several musical events this summer. Among other projects, Schimmerling will complete a string quartet which will be presented by the Woodstock String Quartet during the concert series this summer. Mrs. Zemlinsky will appear as soloist at one of the summer concerts, presenting a series of Schimmerling's arrangements of Czechoslovak folksongs which they presented on Station WNYC, New York, recently.

In May, Schimmerling will attend the first Philadelphia performance of his Te Deum given by the Germantown Choral under the direction of Herbert Fiss.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barzin, Schimmerling said, will not come to Woodstock this summer as they will tour Europe for about five months. Barzin will conduct the New York City Center Ballet in England, Belgium and France.

Rotron Concern Takes Over More Rooms

Woodstock, March 5—The Rotron Manufacturing Company, Inc., of this village, has rented the second floor of the Nook from William Hand, the new owner. A representative of the Rotron company stated that it was necessary to do so because of the increases in business, and that the company probably will use the additional office space in connection with the motor division.

The division will move into its new quarters within the next few days as soon as the necessary equipment can be set up. There will probably be from 10 to 15 employees of the company at the new location.

Harth Is in France On Exchange Plan

Woodstock, March 5—Sidney Harth, first violinist of the Woodstock String Quartet, who was heard here last summer, and who will return to appear in the same series of concerts this summer, is one of several musicians to arrive in France this month.

Harth is one of the first American musical representatives to go to France under the management of Mrs. Anna C. Molyneux, of the National Music League in an exchange arrangement with the Jeunesses Musicales de France. Harth along with Theodore Lettvin, pianist, played their first European concert under the program last week in Paris.

Pierre Sancan, 32-year-old French pianist and composer, arrived at Idlewild Thursday from Paris as the first exchange musician under the new musical trade agreement, and will present a series of concerts here including one in Schenectady.

Nimrods to Elect

Woodstock, March 5—The Lake Hill Rod and Gun Club will meet Friday, March 14, at Morrison's Lake Hill House, at 9 p. m., for the purpose of electing officers of the club.

Village Notes

Woodstock, March 5—Mrs. A. A. Champanier is ill at her home on the lower Byrdcliffe road.

Mrs. Richard R. Steedman was taken to Kingston Hospital Tuesday to undergo an operation.

Airmen Injured in Fire

Shaffersbury, Eng., March 5 (AP)—Six U. S. airmen were slightly injured in a fire which early today destroyed quarters of 400 airmen in a U. S. Air Force transit camp near here. The six were hurt while removing their personal belongings. The camp accommodates more than 2,000 men. All American airmen entering or leaving Britain have to pass through it.

Says Marriage Invalid

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—Showman Billy Rose hopes, by means of testimony from his first husband, to prove that his marriage to Eleanor Holm is invalid. At Rose's request, the county clerk's office said yesterday, it has issued a subpoena for hand-leader Art Jarrett to give deposition testimony March 26. His testimony will bring out, says Rose's lawyer, Harold Epstein of New York, that Jarrett was not a legal California resident when he divorced Miss Holm here in 1938. California law requires a year's residence for bringing a court action.

Cow Makes Record

Peterborough, N. H.—A registered Guernsey cow, Maple Lane Princess Emma, owned by A. H. Chambers, Kingston, has completed an outstanding Advanced Registry record of 13,198 pounds of milk and 630 pounds of butterfat in the 365-day division, starting her record as a junior four-year-old.

Cases Are Settled In Supreme Court

No. 118, Joan Hogan against Sidney Trinkman, negligence, Cashin and Swig for plaintiff and Turney and Murphy for defendants.

Several cases on the day calendar were put over until Monday and other cases on the day calendar were held, due to inability of town attorneys to reach court this morning because of the storm.

Eastern U. S. Has Mid-Winter Chill

(By The Associated Press)

A blast of icy air brought a mid-winter chill to most of the eastern two-thirds of the country today.

The cold weather in the mid-west followed a crippling snow storm which disrupted transportation, forced the closing of many schools and caused at least eight deaths.

The north central region also got the most severe cold. There were sub-zero readings again today in Minnesota and Wisconsin and parts of Iowa, Illinois and North Dakota.

But the chilly air also dipped into the southland, with below freezing temperatures reported as far south as the northern gulf states. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the cold air would extend over the entire south. Readings were in the 40s and 50s in northern Florida today but it was below freezing in Memphis, Tenn., and in parts of northern Mississippi, northern Georgia and northern Alabama.

It was 21 below at Grantsburg, Wis., one of the country's coldest spots. Fargo, N. D., reported -13 and it was -7 in Duluth, Minn. Chicago and Kansas City, both hit by snow storms earlier, shivered in readings of 9 above.

Only light snow was reported in the Great Lakes region and the Appalachians northeastward into northern New England. Rain fell in southern New England. The only other wet spots were in the far west. Light snow hit the Pacific northwest and rain fell along the Pacific coast from northern California northward.

Temperatures moderated in the Rocky mountain region while readings were around normal in the far southwest.

Veterans Reminded To Obtain Claims For Tax Exemption

Veterans and their dependents who have been purchasing real property or making substantial improvement on real property with mustering-out pay, New York state bonus, disability compensation, proceeds of National Service Life Insurance, and certain other monies from the state and federal government, may be eligible to claim real property tax exemption, Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency and State Veterans' counselor Donald Moore said today.

Claims for exemptions of the above nature must be presented to the board of assessors in the town or city in which the property is located on or before Grievance Day, which in most cases is the second Tuesday in August.

For information and assistance in filing a claim, it is suggested that those concerned call at the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, 32 Main street, or any of the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Actress Recovering
Santa Monica, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Recovering from an overdose of sleeping pills, actress Una Merkel will leave St. John's Hospital soon for home. Her physician, Dr. Roy T. McReynolds, said the 48-year-old actress had been ill with the flu. He said he had not prescribed sleeping pills.

Council Would

Counsel James G. Connelly, recommended establishment of the Traffic Violations Bureau, that would isolate the majority of traffic cases from general city court procedure and preclude the necessity of an immediate police booking following minor traffic arrests.

The proposal has been considered for some time, Connelly said, and it was recently discussed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk himself, City Judge Mino and Police Chief Raymond Van Buren. The bureau would be under the jurisdiction of the city judge and under its provisions tickets would be written to establish charges for traffic violations which would be answerable within 48 hours by the offender or someone with power of attorney. If warrants became necessary, regular court appearances would be required.

Could Handle Most Cases
The bureau would deal with all types of traffic infractions, except speeding, one considered a felony or a misdemeanor.

Mayor Newkirk said in a letter he had been studying the need of new traffic controls along Broadway and he recommended suspension type lights at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, Broadway, Henry and O'Neil streets, and Broadway, Cedar and Cornell streets.

The Broadway, Henry and O'Neil street intersection, now has a curb type light, which he recommended changed. The other two intersections have no lights.

The mayor asked that the committee report back by April 2 on this proposal because these lights if approved should be installed by the time the Broadway underpass is completed.

Alderman Benjamin Storms, chairman of the traffic committee, announced, however, that because of the illness of Chief of Police Raymond VanBuren the committee was forced to postpone some of its work. He said the group planned to meet within the next 10 days, and if the police chief was unable to attend then, it was expected that the police department would be represented by another member.

The mayor also said he had made a study of traffic conditions on central Broadway in May 15, of the high school and city hall, and he recommended establishing no-parking zones on both east and west sides in the area.

Davi Wants Stadium
Fred Davi's "formal application" for rental of the municipal stadium during the coming season for the promotion of semi-professional baseball games, was referred to the buildings, repairs and supplies committee.

This bid is approved, Davi said, he would stand about May 15, would operate with "local talent" and would bring in such teams as the House of David, Black Yankees, Bushwicks and possibly major league clubs. He asked advice as to charges and said he would meet with the committee at its convenience for further discussion.

Carney Asks $5,000
Among claims filed and referred to the corporation counsel was one by Elmer and Dorothy Carney of Florence street, for $5,000 because of "unjust hardship" and damage to an automobile due to conditions of Florence street.

Claimants contend that the city opened the street to the public by lowering the curb at Stephen street, but has not properly maintained it as a thoroughfare, and they claim it is "often impossible to get proper access" to it.

Other Claims
Mrs. Helen Brady, of 136 Janes avenue, filed a claim as an individual, and as guardian of Veronica Brady, 7, for $3,000, for injuries she claims the girl suffered last Jan. 19 on property back of the city hall when a sleigh on which the child was coasting collided with a section of water pipe.

Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky filed for the claimants and listed $2,500 for the claimant as guardian and $500 individually.

Flora Ostrander, of 28 Oak street, filed a claim for injuries suffered at the municipal auditorium last Jan. 21 when she slipped on a seat. No amount was mentioned.

Another listing no amount was filed by Mrs. Myrtle Miller for Mrs. June Bean, 127 O'Neil street, for injuries suffered by the latter mind?" when Martin finished reading the letter. Martin said he refused to answer that because he considered the question "completely out of order at this time."

Miss McHugh, who is secretary to District Attorney Louis Bruhn, said the loss of bus service meant a hardship to residents of the Wilbur and Fairview-Lucas areas, and particularly the elderly people who use the buses.

She'd Pay 20 Cents
Suggesting that a fare increase might solve the bus company's problem, she said she knew of "people who would be willing to pay 20 cents," but she charged, the bus company "hasn't been the least bit interested," and has made no attempt to solve its problem through a raise in fare.

Lack of bus service, she said, was "keeping business from going uptown," because travel there by taxi would mean a fare of 50 cents up and the same to return. She suggested that bus service on the runs to outlying districts should be maintained even if it meant curtailment on the main runs.

The Atacama desert, in Chile, is the driest spot on earth.

Cub Pack 15

Announcement was made today by Henry P. Eighmey, Cubmaster of Pack 15 of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, that a third Cub Den has been organized within Pack 15.

The new Den 3 is under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph St. Paul as den mother, and is holding regular meetings every Tuesday afternoon.

The three Dens of Pack 15 are preparing for their first official inspection, scheduled for Tuesday night, March 25, at the Comforter Hall on Wynkoop Place. This meeting will be the regular month Pack meeting to which all Club Scouts of Pack 15 and their parents are invited. The meeting will begin at 7 p. m.

Pack 13 News

Pack 13, sponsored by the P-T-A of School 7, had its blue and gold dinner last week at the Elks Lodge Hall.

Each den had its own individual theme at its own table: Den 1 had rail fences made of tooth picks and drinking straws, log cabins made of pretzels, and covered wagons all depicting pioneer life at the time of Lincoln.

Den 2 centered its theme around Washington and had a miniature of Washington on his beautiful white steed.

Den 3 had an illustrative centerpiece showing the ascendancy of Cub Scouts from Bobcat to Wolf, Bear, Lion and on to Webelos. All these table decorations were made by the Cubs and their mothers, Stephen Hyatt, committee chairman, delivered a talk on goals, ideals and rewards of Cub Scouting, illustrated with a colored film strip.

Mrs. Joseph Falvey, one of the new den mothers, was the special guest of honor. Other guests included Mrs. Frieda Dingee, principal of School 7, and new Cub Scouts Charles O'Reilly, Robert Benkert, Phillip Cullum, George Tomson and members of their families.

Wooden spoons and forks, replacing silverware were made by the Cubs and their fathers and party hats of blue and gold were made by the boys and their mothers.

The following achievement awards were made by Edward Dingeldey: Bob Cat pins to George Tomson, Robert Benkert; Bear Badges to George Holopple and Stephen Hyatt; Lion badges to Judson Emerick and Jon Angstrom.

A covered dish dinner was furnished by all the Cub mothers under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carl Finch.

Four Finalists

tives of Ted Mack's Amateur Hour staff. A spokesman for the committee in charge stated that all students are being admitted to the semi-finals at the children's price.

The finalists represent a variety of entertainment. Barbara Ann Williams, who is six years of age did an acrobatic dance; Tony Amato sang Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy; Mrs. Jean Benkert sang The Lord's Prayer; and DeCosta Dawson played a piano solo.

The third and final Kingston semi-finals will take place Monday evening, March 10. The doors open at 7:15 at each performance and the show starts at 8 o'clock in the Kingston High School Auditorium.

Explosion Fatal to Four

Elwood, Ind., March 5 (AP)—Three men were killed in a boiler explosion at the Indiana Tie Casting Company here early today. A fourth man died later in a hospital. The men were installing a boiler at the plant when the explosion occurred.

Skiing, as a sport, is of fairly recent origin, but as a means of transportation, it antedates written history.

Polio Chairman To Meet Tonight

Full reports on the 1952 March of Dimes drive in Ulster county will be presented during a special meeting tonight for all county chairmen and their key workers at the Hotel Stuyvesant starting at 8 o'clock.

Also scheduled for action is the election of members to the executive board of the Ulster County Chapter of Infantile Paralysis.

Both Mrs. William E. Powers, county chapter chairman, and Addison Jones, county campaign director, have requested a full turnout of county chairmen and their workers at tonight's meeting.

Lenten Services

Redeemer Church

The second in the current series of mid-week Lenten services will be held tonight at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets at 7:45 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will preach the sermon on the topic, The Answer to Confusion, as part of the general Lenten theme, The Answer of the Cross to Our Time. Vesper music will be played by Mrs. Lester Decker, organist, as follows: Angelus, by Truette; and Sortie Solennelle, by Niedermeyer. The choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine, will sing the offertory anthem, Incline Thine Ear, by Himmel. Visitors are invited to become worshippers with the congregation at these Lenten vesper services.

Clinton Avenue

The second in the series of Lenten midweek services will be held at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The general theme of these meetings is The Life of Paul. The devotional address by the minister, the Rev. Dr. Clyde Herbert Snell, will be on The Meaning of Conversion. The motion picture will be Ambassador for Christ. The public is cordially invited to these meetings. Because of the largeness of the crowd at the meeting last week, the meeting will be held in the church sanctuary tonight.

New Paltz Methodist

The Rev. Willett Porter, pastor, has announced a series of five Sunday Lenten services to be held beginning Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the New Paltz Methodist Church. These services will take place of the usual mid-week Lenten services and will consist of a series of new religious films dealing with various aspects of the Christian life.

HOME BUREAU

Exchange of Recipes
New Paltz, March 5—Members of the New Paltz Home Bureau unit will bring their favorite dish to a potluck luncheon Thursday, March 6, at 11 a. m. in the high school social room. Pencil and paper are recommended equipment for the day, because all will bring the recipes for their particular dish.

The afternoon session will feature the first of the discussions on Making the Most of Our Differences, conducted by Miss Laura Hopkins and Mrs. I. C. Barnes.

Bloomington Unit

The Bloomington unit of the Home Bureau will hold an all-day meeting next Tuesday in the Bloomington Reformed Church, Bloomington. The sewing class will be under the leadership of Mrs. G. Schneider and Mrs. J. Daly. The business meeting will be held at 2 p. m. All members and those interested are requested to attend.

Dies in Rhinebeck

Rhinebeck, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Annan Ninger, 59, of (45-06 39th place) Long Island City, Queens, died early today in Northern Dutchess Health Center from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Dr. L. Edward Cotter, deputy medical examiner, said she suffered internal injuries Saturday night when an automobile operated by her son, Fred Ninger, of (59-45 Laube street) Forest Hills, struck a tree at Milan, in northern Dutchess county. The son was uninjured.

The answers to everyday insurance problems.
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I have read that smoke damage is listed in the Extended Coverage clause of a fire insurance policy. Will that clause insure payment for damage to walls and ceiling from a smoky fireplace?

ANSWER: No, a fire in a fireplace is considered a "friendly fire" and most fireplaces smoke occasionally. The smoke damage mentioned in Extended Coverage must be "sudden and unusual."

"If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND."
